The Mental Health Challenge

One of the biggest issues today facing members and their eligible dependents is mental health.

Currently, one in four Canadians leave work due to anxiety, stress or depression. Mental illness is one of the top three drivers for 80 percent of short and long-term disability claims.

25% of Canadians leave work due to anxiety, stress or depression.

The Canadian Mental Health Commission estimates mental health costs the economy $50 billion annually.

More than 500,000 Canadians are off sick due to mental stress/illness every week.

The Path to Mental Wellness

Heat and Frost Insulators Local 95 has designed an extensive best practice approach to wellness that can arise from a number of mental health conditions.

The QuikCare Confidential Mental Wellness program has been designed to improve functioning well-being. Members and their eligible dependents struggling with mental health can benefit from assistance that enables them to deal with life's challenges. This is achieved by utilizing a specialized psychological method with a strong focus on getting better and living a healthier life.

How the Program Works

By ensuring rapid access to Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT), members and their eligible dependents get effective psychological treatment that will improve and sustain their overall mental health. The program provides CBT with a psychologist for a range of psychological conditions including Anxiety, Addiction, Depression, Stress and Substance Abuse.

CBT is delivered virtually in the form of digital therapy sessions in the comfort and privacy of the members' own home for up to 12 weeks. Members feel supported, get the care they need digitally, and become mentally stronger. This confidential evidence-based treatment alleviates the social stigma associated with mental health care. Should more intensive therapy or psychiatric intervention be needed, escalation can be facilitated.

What is Cognitive Behavioral Therapy?

Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT) is a short-term therapy with long term benefits that is structured and focused on providing individuals with skills to help manage their emotions, thoughts and behaviours. CBT can help individuals to change how they think (“cognitive”) and what they do (“behaviour”). CBT focuses on the “here and now” problems instead of focusing on the “root causes” of distress or symptoms, which may have originated in the distant past. CBT uses a skills-oriented approach to problem solving that will help members find ways to improve their state of mind and help them to develop techniques so they can avoid problems in the future.

How does Cognitive Behavioral Therapy Help?

Results show that Cognitive Behavioral Therapy based treatment consistently increased the member's well-being. Cognitive Behavioral Therapy is effective alone or in combination with medication for the treatment of mood, anxiety and several other psychological disorders. Cognitive Behavioral Therapy enhances the member's resilience which equips them to adapt and cope with negative situations and adversity such as workplace and financial worries, relationship issues or health problems.

Case Management

The program's success is built on fusing a supportive case management approach to the member with the very best in psychological treatment. Strong effective communication with the individual is crucial and effective.

It is vital that Case Management teams are supportive of the member's unique situations. When the member knows that they are being provided with effective support in a caring manner, it significantly improves the success of a timely and sustainable return to well-being and productivity.

The unique skills required for psychological case management also require a clear understanding of case management strategies and resources. Specific skills are required in communication, assessment planning, implementation and follow-up. Our exceptional Case Management team is there to assist the member and eligible dependents every step of the way. From the moment of first contact, our case managers ensure the prompt referral to a psychologist for treatment and the care essentials to the members and eligible dependents' recovery and psychological rehabilitation.

The goal of our case managers is to increase the member's and eligible dependents well-being and return them back to a healthy state of mind as soon as possible. Once treatment is complete, they will follow-up with the individual to determine if there is anything else that they require, whether treatment should be extended and/or their care path altered.
